I have on hand different patterns and styles of Engines, Fire Clay Rolls, and am prepared to make or repair all descriptions of machinery, on reasonable terms.

PLOWS AND PLOW CASTINGS.

I have all the best plow patterns that suit this market, among which is the "Great Western," which has been the plow of the county for the last fifteen years. There are five sizes of this plow, all of which I manufacture and keep for sale; also "Patent Lever"—right and left—"Mountain King,"—right and left—"Side Hill," and nearly all the different kinds in use.

COOKING, FRANKLIN AND HEATING STOVES.

Having made several important improvements on the "Climax," by which coal or wood can be supplied without lifting lids, and having two places for pipe, either or both of which can be used at the same time, with a ventilation to the oven, thus having the advantages of a Cooking Stove, Bake oven and Franklin Stove combined. This Stove has been in constant use for twenty years, and many of them after being used for this period of time, are now in good order. There is but a small portion of this stove that ever burns out, and this is easily and cheaply replaced. To make them still more lasting, we are now putting in tile or fire brick lining. Our other patterns are the "Enterprise," Keystone and Premium, Parlor Stoves, large and small heating Stoves, Franklin Stoves, Jenny Lind's, &c. Grate and Grate Fronts, Fenders, Iron Railing of various styles, Wagon Boxes, two Irons, Tire Benders, Corn Shellers, Force and Cistern Pumps, Sad Irons, Metal Sinks for Kitchen, Sheet Iron and Tinware, always on hand and made to order. In fact, I manufacture and keep for sale, almost everything wanted in the machinery or hardware line.

In addition to our other Stoves, we are now making two new patters, No. 7 and 8, of the Great Republic, which are taking captive, the best cooks and housewives in the country.

Second hand stoves always for sale cheap. Two good new engines, suitable for saw-mill or shop purposes now on hand, and will be sold reasonable.

Report of the Superintendent of Common School.

The report of the Superintendent of Common School for the year ending June, 1867, appears in the School Journal for January, from which we gather the following very interesting and gratifying statistics:

Whole number of schools	16,061
Increase since 1866	288

Increase since 1866	308

Increase per month in male teacher's salaries was $1.53, and females $1.20. There were 8,790 female teachers.

Cost of building, repairing, etc.,	985,152.85

Increase since 1866	802,243.69
Amount of State appropriation	355,000.00
Av. No. mills on dol school tax.	7.25

The above items do not include Philadelphia, in which city the expenses of the system were $1,091,997.48; making the total cost of the system in the State $5,160,750.17, with a grand total of 18,435 schools, 16,523 teachers, and 789,380 pupils.

PLANS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE SYSTEM.

Under this head the Superintendent makes five recommendations:

1st. A largely-increased State appropriation. 2d. An increase of the legal school term. 3d. A more thorough supervision of the schools by an appointment of local Superintendents. 4th. A more efficient qualification of teachers by increasing the number of Normal Schools in the State. 5th. A more close union among the various educational [illegible] the Superintendent's report for 1866. He concludes his recommendations with the remark that he is "fully satisfied that Pennsylvania will never reap the full measure of good from her schools until she broadens out her system so as to include all grades of institutions."

The report is clear and full, and should be carefully perused by all who feel any interest in the cause of common education—and especially should it be read and calmly considered by those who pay little or no attention to our school system beyond finding fault with it.

Mathematical.

A solution of the following equation is requested:—Given X square plus the square root of X equal 18 to find the value of X.

If a pipe 3 inches in diameter will discharge 400 gallons in 3 minutes, what must be the diameter of a pipe that will discharge 1600 gallon in the same time?

What length of rope must be attached to a halter 4 feet long, that a horse may feed over 2½ acres of ground?

A man is to receive a certain sum of money in 12 payments; the first payment is to be $300, and each succeeding payment is less than the previous one by $20: what will be the last payment?

The State Superintendent gives notice that during January a copy of the Annual Report will be sent to the President and Secretary of each School board.

Boxes containing copies of the Annual Report, School Laws, etc., will be sent to county Superintendents for distribution among "teachers and private citizens."

PROF. LAKIN sends the following in answer to queries in our issue of Jan. 23.

One reason is, because of their great elevation above the general surface. The temperature decreases according to the perpendicular height above the level of the sea. The rate of decrease is about one degree for each 352 feet of ascent; and consequently, at an elevation of about 15,000 or 16,000 feet, we arrive at the region of perpetual snow, in the tropical regions, and at a less elevation in other regions. If an answer be desired, why the temperature decreases with increased elevation, then we answer: But little of the sun's heat is absorbed by the air before it reaches the earth. The sun's rays first strike the surface of the earth, and are either directly reflected, or are first absorbed, and then radiated, or thrown off into the atmosphere; and some mountains, being isolated, receive but little of the heat thus imparted; and their oval tops, being of limited extent, do not present surface sufficient to form a radiation of their own; therefore they remain covered with snow.

If a tree were to be uprooted and dashed to the earth, where no ear was within a hundred miles of it, would sound be produced?

Sound is said to be an impression, or the effect of an impression, made on the organs of hearing by an impulse or vibration of the air, caused by a collision of bodies, or by other means.

I answer there would be sound, but not audible. Does not all exist by which sound is produced? The ear is only the means by which we receive the sound which is produced, and thus become cognizant of its presence. If an impression must be made upon the ear, the organ of hearing, before sound can exist, then I can conceive of many paradoxes that will arise from such a view. Suppose two men near, to where the tree should fall, one of whom is deaf and the other possess the sense of hearing. One would say sound existed, and the other would deny its existence. Now, does the fact that the deaf man did not hear the sound prove that it did not exist, or does it not rather show that the organ by which we receive sound, is imperfect?

What portions of the earth's surface are rainless—and why?

The rainless districts of the New World comprise a tract of country along the coast of Peru, and a part of Central America, Lower California and the Table-land of Mexico. On the Eastern Continent they consist of an enormous tract of country, 1200 miles wide, commencing in Africa near the Atlantic coast and extending in a north-easterly direction across nearly to the river Indus; and another tract nearly as large, north of the Himalaya mountains, including the Table-land of Thibet, the Desert of Cobi, and a part of Mongolia.

The rainless district of Peru is situated in the region of the South-east trade winds.—These winds bear abundant moisture across the plains of South America to the foot of the Andes; but in crossing this chain of high mountains, their moisture is all precipitated on the eastern declivity; caused by the proximity of the clouds to their snowy tops, by which the vapor in the clouds is condensed into drops and falls in the form of rain, snow or hail. To understand this subject fully, it must be remembered that a decrease of temperature is always necessary to a fall of rain. Therefore, as soon as the clouds cross these mountains and begin to recede from them, the influence of their cold being no longer felt the temperature will rise, which will prevent the fall of rain by increasing their capacity for retaining more moisture; consequently no rain falls on the coast of Peru.

The rainless district of Northern Africa is a desert region, the intense heat of which disperses the clouds that the moist winds from the Atlantic and Mediteranean cause to blow over it—If high mountains with their snow-clad tops, were placed upon this desert by which a fall of temperature would be produced, then it would not be rainless.

The rainless districts of Central Asia lie to the north of the Himalaya mountains. This lofty range arrests the moist south-west winds which blow from the Indian Ocean, and draws from them nearly every particle of their moisture. [illegible] northern Hemisphere, by the [illegible] of the Northern Hemisphere, (at which time the wind will blow from the North,) not much rain if any will be borne from the Artic Ocean, for two reasons; First. it is too cold in that locality to cause sufficient evaporation to form many clouds, or fill the air with vapor enough to cause much rain; Secondly, the desert region of Central Asia is too far inland to receive much rain from that quarter at any rate; hence it is rainless or nearly so.

For the Argus.

MY VOCATION.

BY JEAN.

I have been hunting my vocation ever since I was eleven years of age. I started on the theory that every person has a vocation if they would only study their adaptation to certain pursuits before engaging in them; but some how I cannot succeed in finding out mine.

In the first place, I, as a school girl was rather obtuse, what little I ever mastered came not to me without much exertion.

While all the rest were eating apples or writing billet deaux sub rosa to the boys, I, poor I had to apply myself diligently or class recitations paid dearly for it.

How some of the girls ever made even a third rate recitation, was more than my humble mind could comprehend; for even with attentive care I could not begin to compete with them, when I know they only read their lessons over barely once.

To advance my stupidity I was afflicted with bashfulness, when even the Teacher who was a young gentleman would ask me questions, my blushing face would look like a pipin apple, and shaking as if seized with an ague fit, would frantically strive to catch the idea called for; but would only succeed in getting hold of the tail end of it.

I could think of everything not connected with the lesson, and recall with remarkable brilliancy every unnecessary idea.

Then I was "tall as a flag staff," and completed my growth very early—so early that while I was the youngest pupil in school, I was the only one dignified by the title of miss. I sympathize with those who get an early growth especially if they are large—they are to be pitied. I never could keep control of all my person at once. My feet were always in somebody's way, treading on their's or kicking their shins, and divers and sundry other performances not noted for elegance or style; then I was an adept in falling down, never failing to keep red in the face all the while.

Of all recitations reading aloud was my particular horror. By the time I had risen to my feet to read, I felt the importance of my position so much that straightway their arose in my throat a lump which almost choaked me, but by dint of perseverance and great exertion I could between the sobs manage to gulp out the verse, fully appreciating what a dunce I was.

I do heartily commiserate a bashful person.

You may think it strange but all the while I was so unpromising, there was an inward longing to distinguish myself in some way—a something crying me to do, to act, to become great, and yet the very absurdity of the idea would almost make me laugh in my own face.

It was an impossibility to excel in mathematics, then the question arose, what else.

I imagined I might become a writer, I attempted, and wrote a famous composition to be read at a literary circle of the school, and showed my ignorance beautifully. How famous you may judge it was, when I quoted from the Lady of the Lake in this way, made James Fitz James dip Blanches braid in Murdocks blood, instead of Rodericks. After it was read I discovered my mistake, and become so disgusted with myself, that I gave up all thought of becoming a literary star.

But still dreaming—wasting much time dreaming over the grandeur of Niagara, or the glorious scenes of the Hudson, hoping to visit the cities of the United States, and even dared to turn my wandering thoughts to the old world.

I read of Englands Kings and Scotlands Queens, until in fancy I had traversed Scotlands magnificent mountains, and viewed its beautiful lochs immortalized by Walter Scott.

I would behold Rome on her seven hills, the proudest city of the ancient world, and view her old cathedrals and listen to the reverberation of the te deums, the mansoleums, the great hanging gardens, would have a share of my admiratation. Paris too would afford wonders in her picture galleries, works of fine art. And Switzerland, oh! yes Switzerland must not be neglected, and the most magnificent of all, Alpine scenery, oh! what charms for me. I would go to the home of Wm. Tell.

How learned I would be, and so courted for my knowledge as I returned from the Holy Land and Egypt.

But dear friends would you believe it, Pittsburgh is the nearest Egypt I have ever been. I have scarcely been out of Western Pennsylvania, so I have concluded traveling is not for me. I have never seen the Eastern cities, or Western cities, or Niagara, or the Hudson, and have never been more than fifty miles from my native place.

Then I thought to turn my attention towards music. Oh! yes music, divine music. I would become a musician. I ran the scales up and I ran the scales down. I had found my vocation. I tortured the keys in every imaginable style. I was going to conquer the world in a short time; but on being asked to play for company I discovered I had not forgotten my old habit of blushing, and the trick of trembling. Oh! oh! it was no better than reading aloud, the lump was there in my throat and my fingers got unaccountably twisted up, the piano keys would get very much out of place, and what is very singular I never could succeed in touching the right ones, until the tortured instrument shrieked out a protest against such treatment, and I was obliged to give it up in despair.

Then next came along a handsome stranger and falls in love with me. Now I have found it at last, I wonder why I never thought of that before. It is a wife, that's my vocation. I got all the sermons on matrimony I could read "lessons to young people," and resolved to become a pattern wife, to steer clear of all the weakness which have wrecked so many married lives, in short I would re-organize the whole married world by my example for prudence, frugality and industry. I would stay at home and mind my own business, not tattle of others short comings, but praise my husband who would be a hero; but judge my surprise when one lovely June morning I received a note that run thus:

DEAR FLAG STAFF.—I've changed my mind rimonial for a few days. Yours, &c.

[illegible] for my room. DEW DROP.

It yet, at all events I do not think I [illegible] ry right away, at least not "for a few days."

CIRCULATE THE DOCUMENTS—NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE—SPECIAL RATES FOR 1868—THE DAILY AND WEEKLY TELEGRAPH.

The conventions, to nominate candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, and also to place in nomination the candidate for Auditor General and Surveyor General of this State, have been called, and in the course of less than three months both political parties will present their respective candidates to the support of the American people. A country still in imminent peril is to be saved by the success of the Republicans in 1868. The grand question is to be settled for free government or for anarchy; for lasting peace or for another war, as to whether Union men or ex-rebels shall dictate the reconstruction. The battle of the war is continued in the political arena. Our enemies have consolidated under a treacherous President to wield every energy that desperation can summon, to dominate the land to the ideas of the ex-confederacy. These men are using the main engines of popular power, and are putting forth unprecedented exertions to circulate newspapers that misrepresent the doing of the Republican party.

In order to do our part of the work, the proprietor of the DAILY AND WEEKLY TELEGRAPH has concluded to make proposals that will enable our friends to extend the circulation everywhere. The position and influence of the TELEGRAPH is well known. As a paper for business men, it challenges competition. The news from all parts of the world is received over the magnetic wires and published in advance of other journals.

The following are the reduced terms for clubs, on which, at no considerable sacrifice, we offer to furnish the TELEGRAPH for the present year.

A DESCRIPTION of the new Mormon Temple concludes with the following about the great organ: One remarkable structure inside of this immense building is the grand organ, standing upon a base twenty-three feet wide by thirty deep. The front of this organ is octagonal in form, rising to the height of forty-five feet. It contains 2,200, pipes, two banks of keys, and thirty-five stops on the register. It contains 3,500 feet of lumber, which was brought on wagons from Iron county, a distance of three hundred miles. The longest piece of lumber used in the pipes of the organ is twenty-five feet in length. The lumber of which this organ is built has been three years in seasoning. It requires four men to blow the bellows. The builder of it, is Joseph H. Ridges, and every portion of it was made by Salt Lake workmen and Mormons. It is undoubtedly one of the largest organs in America, surpassed perhaps, by that in Boston only.

"DOES pa kiss you because he loves you?" inquired a snobby nosed urchin of his maternal ancestor the other day. "To be sure, sonny, why?" "Well, I think he loves the cook too, for he kissed her more than forty times last Sunday when you was gone to meeting."

Morals of the Revenue Service.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial relates the following: I heard a very thrilling narrative yesterday involving the morality of the Internal Revenue Department, and showing how very narrowly one of its traveling agents escaped a finely laid plot that had been laid for him. It was in this wise: A gentleman whom I shall call Smith, which is simply no name at all, was on a visit to the East to examine the books of the assessors and collectors of that region, under the direction of the Treasury Department, and report the result of his labors to the headquarters here. While he was in one of the cities, he made an acquaintance with the wife of an assessor, which ripened into intimacy very rapidly. The story is that the assessor, so far from being ignorant of what was going on at home while he was making up revenue returns in his office, was privy to it, and helped to make the arrangement. He and a few of his friends conceived the ingenious device of sacrificing Mrs. Assessor's domestic virtue for the sake of compromising with the traveling agent for a few of the official irregularities of her husband.—A scheme was finally agreed upon which I commend to Wilkie Collins or Charles Reade as affording a better plot for a novel than is contained in either the Woman in White or Griffith Guant. The erring wife and the gay traveling agent were to go to the theatre one evening; thence to return to the assessorial mansion. Assessor not at home. Love and affection are declared between the two—and is being exemplified in full fruition when into the room bursts the outraged husband with a police force. Revenue agent is arrested.—Trouble is in store for him. Duel probable. Devil to pay certain. Friends interfere, however, and, after a great deal of negotiation, revenue agent can get off scot free if he'll leave town and not examine the assessor's books any further. Agreed. All fixed up.—Erring wife and defaulting husband make up. Husband keeps his place and wife hasn't lost her virtue. Hadn't much to lose. Et-cetera omnes.

Now the above is what was to have happened in an Eastern city between an assessor and a revenue agent. That it did not occur is owing to the vigilance of a Brevet Brigadier-General who, hearing of it in time, warned his friend, the traveling agent, about the conspiracy that was on foot for him, and saved him from the jaws of destruction. The General is my authority for what I have written

The African King.

Alexander of Macedonia, came one day to a distant province of Africa, rich in gold. The inhabitants were [illegible] him, carried [illegible] ets full of gold and fruit. "Do where their fruits?" said Alexander. "[illegible] view your riches first. Just then a citizen of this [illegible] ...ah, and have found in it a considerable treasure. The chaff is mine, but not the gold, and this man will not take it back. Speak to him, O King, for it is his."

His adversary, also a citizen of the place, answered: "Thou art afraid lest thou should retain something wrong, and I not fear to take it from thee? I sold thee this sack, including all that it contains; keep thine own. Speak to him to this effect, O King!"

The king asked the first if he had a son? He answered, "Yes." He asked the other if he had a daughter, and he also answered "Yes." "Friends" said the king; "You are both honest people, unite your children to each other, and give them the newly-found treasure for a marriage dower. This is my decision."

Alexander was astonished when he heard this sentence. "Have I judged unrighteously?" said the king of the distant land, "that thou art thus astonished?"

"No, by no means," answered Alexander; 'but in our country it would have been otherwise."

"And how?" inquired the African monarch.

"The disputants," replied Alexander "would have lost their heads, and the treasure would have come into the hands of the king."

The king smote his hands together, and said, "Does the sun shine with you and does Heaven drod upon you?"

Alexander answered, "Yes."

"Then it must be," he pursued, "on account of the innocent animals that dwell in your land; for over such men ought no sun to shine no Heaven to rain."

Hold on Devil.

In the early days of the States of Indiana, the capital was Croydon, and the annual session of the General Assembly usually brought together as wild a set of wags as could be found in the State, who had to rely on their own resources for amusement, for there were then few theatres, concerts or shows.

The lovers of mischief had established a mock Masonic Lodge, into which they would entice such as were considered a little green, and take them through a variety of ridiculous ceremonies, to the infinite amusement of the crowd.

On one of these occasions, it being understood that a very good-natured, athletic young man, about half a simpleton, was to be initiated, the room was crowded, Judge Grass (it being a character in which he was particularly happy) consenting to act the role of the devil; and to make the service more impressive, had put on a false face and a large paper cap, surmounted with horns, and with some chains in his hands placed himself behind a screen.

After taking the candidate through a variety of ceremonies, he was brought to a stand before a screen and told that he had to confess all crimes he had committed during his whole life. The candidate confessed some trival offence, and declared that he could recollect no more.

At this the Judge made his appearance from behind the screen, groaning and shaking the chains. The frightened candidate related some other small matters, and then declared he had disclosed all the crimes he had committed. At this the groans of the pretended devil became furious, the chains rattled, and he shook his horns in the face of the terrified candidate, who, starting back in alarm, cried out:

"H-hold on M-mister D-d-devil, if I m-must t-tell you, I d-d-did k-kiss J-j-udge G-grass's wife a c-couple of t-times!"

The groaning ceased, and the devil disappeared.

BASIL W. DUKE, of guerrilla memory, familiarly known out West as the brains of John Morgan, has kindly published a letter of instruction to the Democracy of the Southwest, in which he suggests Mr. Pendleton as the proper candidate for the Presidency. Does General Duke propose to fill the same office for the Democracy as he did for John Morgan? His unquestioned ability as a guerrilla chieftain certainly entitles him to promotion in the ranks of the rear guard guerrilla of the North.

GOV. GEARY has signed the act restoring the Connellsville charter. That job is therefore complete.

COL. A. K. M'CLURE, of the Chambersburg Repository, offers for sale a controlling interest in that paper. The Repository is a first class Republican paper, and is now doing a very fine business.

MR. ANDREW JOHNSON is reported in a recent private conversation for the enlightenment of mankind to have said:

"The President is elected directly by the people, and is therefore as directly their representative as Congress is."

The President is not elected, "directly by the people," but by colleges of electors. And Mr. Johnson was not elected President by anybody, unless it was by Wilkes Booth.

THE speech delivered by Senator Morton of Indiana, in the United States Senate some two weeks ago, is a powerful argument in favor of the Congressional plan of reconstruction. Hon. Reverdy Johnson, of Maryland, the oldest and among the ablest men of the nation, in replying to it a few days after, characterized it as the "ablest and most Statesmanlike address he had ever listened to in the Senate." Want of room prevents us from publishing it at the present time. It will appear in the Argus as soon as our advertising rush is over.

WE believe one of the Pendleton maxims is 'equal taxation," more particularly aiming at the 'bond-barons," or holders of United States securities. Alas! how few doctors take their own medicine. George H. Pendleton figures, among many other leading Democrats, in the Cincinnati papers, as a man who refuses to pay the tax levied upon his National Bank stock. Does the "equal taxation plank of the Ohio platform especially exempt Mr. Pendleton's bonds? Perhaps the World can answer. N. Y. Tribune.

THE evening before the Congressional election in the Eighth District of Ohio, Senator Thurman telegraphed to President Johnson that the Democratic candidate would be elected without doubt, and that too by a good round majority. Now he claims that his prophecy would have been fulfilled but for the defection of Vallandigham and his friends.—All bosh! The Republicans of that District have seen the folly of their dread of negro suffrage last fall, and embraced the opportunity which this election afforded, to show that fact to the country. Manhood suffrage may not be acceptable to all Republicans, but they are very few who do not prefer it to Democratic rule. [illegible] Democratic Legislature, the Republicans of [illegible] now be able to carry that election above referred to, will be regarded as pretty good authority on matters of this kind.

EX-CHIEF JUSTICE WOODWARD of this State, now a Representative in Congress, made a speech the other day in that body in which he took decided grounds against Mr. Pendleton's financial theories. The ex-chief justice goes back to the old doctrine of this same Pendleton and the Democratic party and insists that the issue of greenbacks was unconstitutional, and if the act was defensible at all it was only so on the ground of a war necessity, which no longer exists. Mr. Woodward is a man of considerable force of character, and the position thus taken by him will no doubt influence a great many others whose love of principle exceeds their desire for "spoils." Nor is he alone now in advocating these views. The New York and New England Democrats are said to be almost a unit in opposition to the Pendleton scheme, and it appears hardly possible that this difference of opinion among the leaders of that party can be reconciled at their National Convention.

As will be seen in another column, a Post of the Grand Army of the Republic has been established in this place. The purposes of this organization are not definitely known by those who are not connected with it; we have therefore taken the pains to ascertain what they are, and give them to our readers, in brief, as follows:

1. The preservation of those kind and fraternal feelings which have bound together with the strong cords of love and affection, the soldiers and sailors who have stood together in many battles, sieges, engagements, and marches.

2. To make these ties available in works and results of kindness—of favor and material aid to those in need of assistance.

3. To make provision, where it is not already done, for the support, care, and education of soldiers' and sailors' orphans, and for the maintenance of the widows of deceased soldiers and sailors.

4. For the protection and assistance of disabled soldiers and sailors, whether disabled by wounds, sickness, old age, or misfortune.

5. For the establishment and defence of the rights of the late soldiers and sailors of the United States—morally, socially, and politically—with a view to inculcate a proper appreciation of their services to the country, and to a recognition of such services and claims by the American people. In political matters the soldier is only to be preferred over the civilian, when character, qualifications, &c., are equal.

6. The maintenance of true allegiance to the United States of America, based upon a paramount respect for and fidelity to the national constitution and laws, manifested by the discountenancing of whatever may tend to weaken loyalty, incite to insurrection, treason, or rebellion, or in any manner impair the efficiency and permanency of our free institution, together with a defence of universal liberty, equal rights and justice to all men.

We understand that all honorably discharged soldiers, whether in the three months or three years service are eligible to membership, and all else being satisfactory, will be cordially received by the organization when proper application is made.

THE annual exhibit of the receipts and expenditures of the county for the last year, is presented to our readers this week. We understand that an additional exhibit of the money borrowed and the payments made on accounts of the same, &c, is being prepared by the Commissioners, and will appear next week.

WE are under obligations to Hon. Thomas Nicholson of the House of Representatives for the annual report of the Board of Inspectors of the Western Penitentiary. From it we learn that the total number of convicts now in the institution is 486. The following table will show the number from the respective counties:

THE Republicans in the State Legislature are carrying out every pledge made to the people last fall. A free railroad law will be passed before many moons wax and wane, and the Connellsville charter has already been restored to the Connellsville Railroad company. On last Thursday the following repealing act was passed by the Senate and in a few hours afterwards by the House:

An act relative to the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company.

SECTION. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same: That the act of Assembly, approved August nineteenth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, entitled "An act relative to the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company," be and the same is hereby repealed, and the said company is required to build and complete their road to the State line within five years from the date hereof.

Not only have the Republican members of the present Legislature been faithful thus far in fulfilling the pledges made last fall to the people, but they have in addition settled them the State has had for a number of years. Mr. Nicholson, our efficient Representative in the House, is conspicuous in these reform movements. The people not only in his own county, but throughout the State, will honor him for his efforts in their behalf. So far, then, so good. Now let the Legislature adjourn early, the members return to their constituents, and the Republican party will be able to carry the State next fall by a majority of 30,000.

THE Democrats of Ohio have control of the Legislature of that State. Among the first things the members did after organizing the present session, was to rescind the resolution of a previous Legislature ratifying the fourteenth article of the Constitution of the United States. This article among other things, provides that

The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pension and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection and rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations or claims shall be held illegal and void.

If any evidence was wanting before to show that the Ohio Democrats were either in favor of repudiating the National debt, or of assuming the rebel debt, this hasty action of their's in this particular, would furnish it. But fortunately for the country they are powerless to act on this question. Even Reverdy Johnson himself, the ablest man that party has in the United States Senate, said the other day "that the assent of a State once given to a constitutional amendment there was no Power to withdraw it." So the Ohio Democrats have only shown the cloven foot, without receiving the least reward for so doing.

THE President is on the war path again. A few days ago he sent the name of R. H. Kerr of Allegheny county to the Senate for confirmation for the office of Marshal of the Western District of Pennsylvania. This man Kerr is familiarly known as "Benton Kerr," and while acting in the capacity of "borer" at Harrisburg for the Liquor League in the winter of 1865-6, he acquired a reputation that does not "smell sweet in the nostrils of honest men." Even if he was "all right," the Senate should reject him at once, on the ground that no necessity for the appointment exists. General Rowly is the Marshal at the present time, and he fills the office not only creditable to himself, but satisfactorily to the people of the District in which his duties are performed.

COMMODORE VANDERBILT has withdrawn from the Grant movement in New York, ostensibly on the ground that Grant did not treat the President fairly in the Stanton imbroglio, but really because his own name has recently been mentioned in connection with a Democratic nomination for the Presidency.—How unselfish some people are!

THE ten days allowed the President for signing the bill suspending further contraction of the currency, expired on Monday, and the bill was not signed. It is therefore a law.

GEN. MEADE is about to modify Gen. Pope's order, forbidding the printing of legal advertisements in disloyal papers. The fair progress of reconstruction, Gen. Meade thinks, warrants the modification.

NASBY.

MR. NASBY ISSUES HIS PROCLAMATION TO THE DEMOCRACY OF THE NORTH, LYING DOWN THE POLICY TO BE PURSUED TO INSURE A DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

[From the Toledo Blade.]

POST OFFIS, CONFEDRIT X ROADS (wich is in the State uv Kentucky,) Jan. 11, 1868. The time has at length arrived when it's nessary that suthin be did. Procrastinashun is the buster uv success, and great excellence is only to be attained through great labor. In the tuff fite that the Democrasy hez afore it, uv wich the premonitory notes is now being sounded, it is wisdom not to lose any chances uv success or to neglect anything that wood hev a tendency to aid us on to victry.

Mankind, or at least three-fourths uv em, are dividid up into two classes, viz: rascals and minnies, and I make bold to say the Republikin party is the minnies. They hev a certain kind uv courage. I don't deny that doorin the late oapleasantnis they faced the batteries and sich tolerably well, but their nerve all endid with that. They expendid theirselves a carryin on the war, and become too aggsustid in doing it to pick up the plunder, or to take good care uv the prisoners.

The next campane is to be fought on two isshoes only, viz: The finances and the niggers, and on both the Democrisy is especially strong. Ez Demokrats on an average, don't pay taxes to any alarmin extent, they are pekoolyarly sensitive on this subjick. Among no class do I find sich ardent advocates uv paying the bonds off in greenbax.

Only last nite in Looisville, I heerd one who wuz a leanin up agin the bar uv the S'loon I paternize, assert with fervor that the money good enuff for the labrer was good enuff for the bloated bondholder, and that for his part, he hed vowed never to pay another dollar in taxes to swell the estates uv those purse proud aristocrats. After given expression to sich a patriotic defiance, could I refuse to lend him ten cents he desired to assuage the thirst that wuz consoomin him? No, I did it and he tu once assuaged. The fact that he attempted to pick my pocket of my handkercher ez I passed him, while it shows a moral twist in his nacher, don't detract anything from the soundnis uv his posishen on the great question of finances.

The nigger is however our best and strongest holt. The Democrat may not precisely understand the finanshel question or not havin any bonds to be paid, or greenbax to pay em with he may probably not care a continental cuss about it. But on the nigger he is alluz alive, alluz activ, alluz vigilant. Whenever he is brot face to face with a nigger, his proud Caucassian blood tu wunst rebels, and he instinktively strikes. The Republican is jist ez sensitive on these questions ez the Demokrat. Doorin the war, when they wanted em, ther wuz a tendency toward lookin more favorable onto em, but that is all faded out. The nigger who wuz a very Apollo in ther eyes, when clad in bloo, and with a musket on his shoulder, is now that he ain't needed to stand atween a white man and a rebel bullet, the same ——— nigger he alluz was, and nothin more. The nigger stinks ez uv yore, and in that sign we conker.

For the guidance of the Demokrasy North I wood say that we hev commenced our campane. We are jist now engaged in fixin the niggers in our midst so that we kin hold him up next year ez a awful example afore an astounded world. We hev organized all thro Kentucky, and are pushin it thro the other States ez rapidly ez possible, leagues uv property owners for their protection in the matter uv labor. We hev agreed and we mootually pledge to each other, our words and sacred honors, suthin ez follers:

1. No nigger shel be permitted under any ——— whatever, to lease or buy any ground employ a ——— or ——— in any ——— sertin forth: 1. That he is humble. 2. That he can't read. 3. That he regards it ez his duty, under the decree of a just Providence, to take whatever is set afore him, humbly and without murmurin.

3. No nigger shel be employed ceptin upon the following terms: Able-bodied males, $8 per month; able-bodied females, $6 per month. When they hev been married by chaplains of nigger regiments and sich, the marriage to be considered uv no akkount. Supplies onto wich they live shel, in all cases, be furnisht by the employer, the price wich he fixes theron to be deducted from their wages. Should they git in debt to their employer for supplies it is expressly understood that they shel hev the privlege uv workin it out. We ain't so crooel ez to ask that they shel pay in money.

It isn't expected that many uv em will take service on these terms. Wut follows? It is obvus to the most ordinary intellek! They'll starve! Halleloogy! They'll starve! Starvin they'll attempt to take a livin by force; we shel appeal to the government for protection agin these infuriatid monsters, and with that help we think there will be no difikulty in bringing uv em to terms. With Hancock and Sickles in command, we think there will be no trouble in bustin the conspiracies that will follow, and suppressing any uprisin that may occur. We shel hold em with a firm hand, and may possiblly commence onto em afore they rise.

Then will the effeck be made plain to you. The people uv Kentucky will pist to the corpsis uv them which are strewed along the roadside, dead uv starvashun, and exposhure, and exclaimed sepulcrally to the Ablishnist "Behold your work? When he wuz a slave ez he wuz cared for by kind masters, it wuz not thus!" Many uv em will die, but wat is the lives uv a thousand, more or less, niggers when compared with a Demoocratic victory?

I wood recommend similar strategy in the North. The nigger must be stirred up with a long pole, and the pint must be sharpened. In localities where yoo hev niggers, let outrages be commenst towunst. It wood be well to hev occasionlly, reel outrages, onto which to base the noospaper onse. In every Congressional deestrick yoo ought to be able to find some Democrat sufficiently devoted to the coz, to sacrifice a child or two to this purpose.

Where you heven't any niggers, we are willin to furnish em. We kin drive enuff out uv the Corners to do at least, the half uv one Northern State, which ef yoo cood run smallpox or measles thro em, so that they wood hev to be objicks uv charity, wood be effective. Ez soon ez they make their appearance in any township, let clothes lines and smoke houses be robbed. Uv course it will be charged to the niggers, for when wuz a white man ever knowed to do sich things? and the result will be the triumph we want. Ther ain't no danger in this line of ackshen; for ez the nigger hez no vote in the North ther ain't nobody to stand up for him.

Eternal vigilence is the price of liberty. Let our vigilence be ez near eternal ez possible. One pull and we shell have passed the Jordon. Let us make the most uv our opportunities.

PETROLEUM V. NASBY, P. M.,
(Wich is Postmaster).

WE find the following paragraph in the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph of Jan. 25:

"From a reliable gentleman we have learned the particulars of a horrible and lamentable occurrence that happened near Fort Valley yesterday, in which a father was shot and killed by his own son. The unfortunate man was Dr. Jackson, a brother of the Jackson who killed Col. Ellsworth for hauling down a Confederate flag from over his hotel at Alexandria Va., during the first year of the war. Dr Jackson removed to Georgia during the Revolution, and has been residing here ever since. The circumstances of the killing as we have them from our informant, were these: There had been an angry familiy altercation, during which the doctor is said to have forcibly ejected his son from his premises, who thereupon turned and fired upon his father twice—killing him. We have not learned whether the young parricide had been arrested or not, but presume so."

The Connellsville Railroad Charter Restored.

By a telegram from Philadelphia we learn that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, in a unanimous opinion read by Judge Sharswood, have pronounced judgment in favor of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company, and against the Commonwealth, in the Quo Warranto case, which has been pending for more than two years, but was only argued a few days ago.

As we understand this decision, it is entirely and finally conclusive of the merits of the case, and leaves the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company an unimpaired charter, and a conceded right to extend their road to Cumberland, and there connect with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. This decision will also relieve the State of Pennsylvania, and its Judiciary, from the accusation of subserviency to the interests of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The case in the Circuit Court of the United States, wherein Judges Grier and McCandless gave a similar decree in favor of the company, and from whose decree an appeal has been taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, will, we suppose, be no longer of importance—the decision of the Supreme Court of the State, in favor of the validity of the company's charter being conclusive upon the Commonwealth and all parties claiming under her.

We may, therefore, hail the immediate completion of the long talked of and greatly desired connection between the cities of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Baltimore, by the Connellsville route. Now that the act by which the charter of this company was sought to be revoked has been declared a nullity by the Supreme Court, the Legislature should at once wipe it from the statute book by the passage of the act recently brought before it for that purpose.

We shall take another occasion to speak of the importance of this result not merely as it affects the Connellsville Railroad Company, but the public at large. We shall also lay a copy of the decision before our readers at the earliest opportunity.—Pitts. Com.

The editor of the Corry, (Pa.) Republican who claims to be personally acquainted with Brick Pomeroy, gives his readers the extracts from the La Crosse Democrat on Gen. Sherman and the clergy, and then proceeds to paint "Brick" thus:

"The author of this outrage was born minus the moral outrage of a manly character. He is a thief, liar, drunkard, and wife beater to our personal knowledge. We have known him to beat his wife and children unmercifully without the show of provocation, and forbid the merchants to trust them to the necessaries of life, while he was carousing in dens of prostitution. And such a thing the leader of the Democratic party! We have known him to sing bawdy songs and crack obscene jokes over the dead remains of his friend and companion, who strangled to death in an attempt to drink half a gallon of whisky on a wager, in the city of Milwaukee. And we have heard him curse the sun and defy the power that sustained it. We could chronicle a thousand other instances, but it is useless, as the extract we present delineates the moral degredation of the wretch better than we are able to do.

In personal appearance, Pomeroy is just about what the imagination of any decent man naturally pictures him after reading the above characteristics of his poluted mind.—He has red bushy hair, (wears it long to hide horns) a whisky bloated face, and a red rum blossom nose—in short, he looks like the personation of sin pulled out, red hot from the bowels of hell. He, a sweet-scented Japonica to pre[illegible] Inconsistencies of the day, he talk of reformation, whose heart never palpitated with one single emotion for God or human ———, who was sent into this breathing world a restless curse, in whose throat blasphemy and vulgarity gurgle and seethe like the hot breath of a damnable dream; he Mark M. Pomeroy, the personification of the displeasure of Heaven, and glory of hell, wrapped in a nigger's stolen overcoat, who was most ungainly dragging himself over the hallowed sepulchers of our brave soldiers, recently, to deliver pusillanimous and inhuman lectures to Southern traitors——eulogizing "the lost c-a-u-s-e."

And such a man the leader of a great party in the North, and A MORAL REFORMER!! Great Jehovah, Not him out!

BALTIMORE, Jan. 28.—Another Pollard affray occured here to-day, the circumstances of which are about as follows:

Mrs. E. A. Pollard, wife of Edward A. Pollard, who has been stopping at the Maltby House for some months, her husband being absent from Baltimore at this time, was anxious to learn his whereabouts, and for that purpose went to-day, about noon to the drug establishment of Messrs. Moore & Diffenbach, corner of Hanover and Hill street, knowing Dr. George A. Moore, one of the partners, to be an intimate friend of her husband. She entered the store much excited, and asked Dr. Moore several times to tell her where Mr. Pollard was. The Doctor replied he did not know. Mrs. Pollard insisted that he did.

Whereupon excited words were passed, and Dr. Moore called for a policeman to take Mrs. Pollard in charge. The officer not coming in time, Dr. Moore ordered Mrs. P. to leave his premises, which she refused to do. He then undertook to eject her himself, when a struggle ensued, in which Mrs. Pollard states she received a severe wound in the right hand. Seeing her blood thus flowing, and recollecting some previous alleged wrongs charged by her against Dr. Moore she grew partially crazed, and, insensible to self-control, drew a small revolver, and discharged it at the Doctor.

The ball from the revolver passed through the Doctor's right wrist, shattering the joint, and lodged in the window cornice, near the ceiling. Mrs. Pollard was immediately arrested and taken to the Southern Police Station House, and after a preliminary examination, in the absence of security, she, however not desiring to offer it at present, was sent to jail on the charge of assault and battery with intent to murder.

Mrs. Pollard also brought a charge of assault against Dr. Moore, but no bail was required of him.

Mrs. Pollard's counsel will apply for bail for her in a few days. She is now much excited and destressed at the absence of her husband, who, it is presumed, will repair immediately to her relief, and to be in readiness to press the case of the State against John S. and George H. Wise for assaulting him with attempt to murder, in which case Mrs. Pollard is a prominent witness. Doctor Moore is now confined to his bed suffering from the wound, which, though painful is not dangerous. Mrs Pollard is a very intelligent and fine looking woman, about twenty-eight or thirty years of age.

Dr. Moore is well known and has heretofore been closely intimate with Mr. Pollard. The affair has created quite an excitement, and considerable sympathy exists for the peculiar nervous ailment and unfortunate condition of the accused. After recovering her nerves she regretted the act in floods of tears.

The Connellsville R. R. Charter.

PHILADELPHIA, January 28.—In the Supreme Court of this State, this morning, Judge Sharswood delivered the unanimous opinion of the court on the Connellsville Railroad case. The opinion declares the act repealing the charter of the company unconstitutional, and declares the charter, with all rights and privileges, restored.

No Backing Down.

HOW THE REPUBLICANS OF OHIO FEEL AND WHAT THEY DO.

The special election in the Eighth Congressional District, yesterday resulted in a very decided and gratifying Republican victory. The vote for Governor in October was close the Republican majority in the counties composing the District being only 247. Yesterday there was a Republican gain on the October vote in every county, and General Beatty was elected by a majority of 1,000. The Democrats attached great importance to this contest, and confidently expected to elect their candidate, Mr. Burns. The Republicans also regarded it as a very important election. Both parties, therefore, worked hard, and each were led by representative men.

This election shows that the reaction against the Democracy has already set in in Ohio. As it was in 1862 so it is in 1868. The Democrats carried Ohio that year by false pretenses. The election over the cloven foot was exhibited, and in 1863 John Brough was elected Governor by over 100,000 majority. Already in 1868 the Democrats, encourage by the fall elections, have indicated what they would do if restored fully to power, and already have the people taken the alarm, and are prepared to give the party that sustained the rebellion, and would now restore rebels to power, a back seat once more. This special election is, therefore, one of great significance. It fairly foreshadows the vote of November, and insures a sweeping majority for the Republican candidate for the Presidency.

It will have a good effect, too, in hastening reconstruction, by convincing the disloyal people of the South, that the Democratic party of the North will not be able to carry them into power; while it will encourage the loyal people of the suspended States to persevere in the work of reconstruction. In another respect the election will do good. It will serve as an intimation to the President that his policy is not popular in Ohio.

The loyal people of the nation have been placed under obligations to the Republicans of the Eighth district, who so vigorously fought and so gloriously won this short, but decisive battle for principles.

The next election will take place in Alabama, commencing on the fourth day of February. We are assured that the Constitution will be adopted, and in less than thirty days thereafter the State will be fully represented in Congress by good and loyal men.

IN New York city alone during the year, 58,943 males and 21,589 females were arrested, making a grand total of 80,532. Of these there were arrested on charges of bigamy, 10; burglary, 125; forgery, 125; intoxication, 17,709; intoxication and disorderly conduct, 9,428; grand larceny, 2,128; petit larceny, 4,785; murder, 53. The nativity of the larger number of those arrested stood as follows: United States (black and white), 25,780; England, 2,764; Scotland, 970; Ireland, 32,128; Germany, 9,460; France, 545; Italy, 101; Russia, 119; China; 31; Africa, 4. The following are the principal occupations of those arrested: Actors, 58; brokers, 312; prostitutes, 5,971; editors, 30; washerwomen, 212; tobacconists, 503; merchants, 888; reporters (so-called); 42; physicians, 142; printers, 99; lawyers, 14. Besides these, 13,906 had no occupation. As the number of males arrested for intoxication was 13,004, and of those having no occupation, 12,906, can it be inferred that all but 902 were so intoxica[illegible] how they subsis-

Carnival of Crime—Military Guard in the Criminal Court—The Arkansas Convention.

MEMPHIS, February 3.—Policeman Johnson was shot in the shoulder Saturday night, while attempting to separate two men fighting, at a ball on Desoto street.

Annie Melrose a notorious prostitute, was stabbed very severely at a bagnio on Washington street the same night by Joe Luxton, in a fit of jealousy. Her recovery is doubtful.

Ned Blackburn shot and killed Butler Phillips in an alley between Commerce and Winchester streets, this morning. Both were freedmen. Nothing is known in regard to the cause.

Eli Guthrie, a freedman, was shot at the corner of Causey and Linder streets this morning, by policeman Sweat, who was attempting to arrest him.

Excitement was caused in the Criminal Court this morning, during the Avalanche contempt case, by the appearance of a squad of soldiers under Lieutenant Hunton, Twenty-Fifth Infantry, who reported to Judge Hunter. They were by his orders stationed about the Court. Several attorneys protested against the proceeding. Duncan K. McRae left the Court, saying he would never practice in it under such circumstances. The troops were subsequently withdrawn by by order of Gen. Granger, and the Court adjourned until to-morrow, when the decision will be known.

THE Ohio Democracy are greatly disturbed by the result in the VIIIth Congressional District. The Pentletonians swear that the Vallandighammers defeated Burns in revenge for the defeat of the great martyr in the Senatorial contest, while Vallandigham's organ has an article believed to be from his own pen showing that the "Pendleton policy" did the business. Val. foresees a crushing defeat for the Democracy in Ohio next fall. The Pendletonians have been working like beavers all over the West in getting up public opinion, but this affair of the VIIIth District, shall thought it may appear, is likely to give their factions a great deal of trouble. However, it is none of our funeral.—N. Y. Tribune.

Taxes Due the State.

Allegheny County is indebted to the State in the sum of $27,542 09, taxes due and unpaid. Of our neighboring counties, Armstrong owes $6,096 74; Cambria, $6,824 24; Clarion, $4,860 98; Erie, $17,958 46; Fayette, $9,914, 50; Greene, $6,700 59; Indiana, $3,213 14; Lawrence, $3,951 21; Mercer, $2,825 31; Somerset, $3,862 66; Venango, $2,812 78; Washington, $748 72; Westmoreland, $12,736 36. The only counties which have paid their liabilities to the State are Beaver, Blair, Butler, Center, Crawford, Delaware, McKean and Montgomery. The total amount due the State is $664,886 19.

THE opinion is expressed in Washington letters that neither the reconstruction nor the Supreme Court bill will pass. The latter, after considerable debate, will be referred to the Judiciary Committee, where it will remain. The circumstances existing at the introduction of the first named bill have so changed that the necessity for it is now scarcely felt; the prospect being that nearly every State in process of reconstruction will go through successfully, and at an early day be represented in Congress.—Pitts. Com.

"PROFESSOR" WICK, one of the witnesses in the McEwen case, testified that Barnum's hairy infant was his adopted daughter; that P. T. B., had paid him three thousand dollars for the use of the child, and that he himself had named her Anna Jones Wick, adding, "I put in the name Jones for the sake of euphony!"

The Coldest Morning of the Season.—On last Monday morning the mercury in the themometer stood at zero. This showed the coldest weather of the winter, thus far.

Senator Taylor, on the 31st read a bill, in place, for extending the act now in force in Allegheny county for registering dogs, to Beaver county.

Also a petition on the 3d for an act preventing the selling of merchandise in Beaver county, without a license.

Also one for the repeal of the act extending the limits of the borough of Beaver.

A bill in place on same day, an act extending an act relating to hawkers and pedlers in Lebanon and Wyoming counties, approved March 29, 1867, to Beaver county.

A Festival was held in Rochester on Tuesday evening of last week for the benefit of the M. E. Sabbath School of that place. It is said to have been a pleasant affair, and not only was it a pleasant gathering, but it paid well besides. The sum of $125 was realized.

Left Out.—Owing to the publication of the receipts and expenditures during this month, we are obliged to leave out of our paper quite a number of yearly advertisements which have heretofore appeared in it. In due time they will appear again, and their present suspension will be made up by us after the regular time expires.

Spring Election Tickets.—Each township and Borough should have tickets printed for the spring election. As there is usually some inquiry as to the cost of furnishing these, we will now state, that they can be had at this office at the following rates: For the first two hundred $2; for each subsequent hundred 75 cents.

County Committee Meeting.—The members of the county committee of the Republican party will bear in mind that on Saturday next they are required to meet at the Court House, for the transaction of important business. Let there be a full attendance.

Afflicted with the Measles.—We have incidentally learned that the disease known by the name of "measles" has broken out and rages with considerable virulence in the vicinity of Shippingsport, this county. The public school in that vicinity was obliged to close a few days ago and will continue closed until the disease abates.

Western Seamen's Cause.—On last Sabbath Rev. Mr. Swaney, the corresponding secretary of the Western Seamen's organization, preached in the M. E. Church of this place, in behalf of the society referred to. After the sermon a collection was taken up, and the sum of $28 was raised.

Whiskey and Democracy.—[illegible] ty, in this Congressional District, as will be seen from the Internal Revenue Assessor's return published in this paper, produced in 1867, 213,913,95-100 gallons of whiskey. Politically, the Democrats in that county outnumber the Republicans in the proportion of about two to one. Who will say in view of these facts that "whisky and Democracy," are not "hail fellows, well met."

Grand Army of the Republic.—A Post of the Grand Army of the Republic was established in this place on last Thursday evening. Maj. Montooth of Allegheny city was present and mustered in twenty-two members. The No. of the Post is 99, and its officers are as follows:

Post Commandant—Capt. Jas. Darragh.
Senior Vice Commandant—Capt. H. C. Hall.
Junior " Commandant—Comrade Jas. Harton.
Adjutant—Comrade D. D. Johnston.
Quartermaster—Capt. E. Barnes.
Officer of Day—Charles Decarme.
Officer of Guard—Arthur Izenour.
The organization meets on next Friday evening.

Lectures.—On Tuesday evening of last week Rev. Mills delivered the third lecture of a course of five in the M. E. Church of this place. His subject was "Intuitions."

On Thursday evening, Rev. J. K. Karcher, of the Episcopal Church, Rochester, this county, delivered a lecture in the Court House on the subject of "Rome and Protestantism, or, the relation of the Church to Civilization."

A Success.—The entertainment given in the Baptist Church of Bridgewater on last Friday evening for the benefit of a worthy widow, was a decided success, the house being filled with spectators. The performers acquitted themselves very creditably, and the proceeds were fully as heavy as any one connected with the project, expected. By general desire the entertainment was repeated on the following evening, the proceeds of which are to be applied to the benefit of the poor generally.

The Murder.—We last week published a telegram from St. Louis, giving some particulars of a murder on the steamer Armadillo. Since then we have learned additional particulars, and as the murdered man and his murderer were both residents of this county, we give them to our readers as they have been furnished us. The steamer Armadillo is owned in part in this county by persons living a few miles down the river. Her captain was David Swaney, and the mates name, John Swaney, a brother of the captain's. While lying at Cairo, the mate indulged freely in liquor, and on being reproved for something he did by the Capt. fired his revolver at him, the ball narrowly escaping his head. He also at that time had some altercation with the clerk whose life he also threatened. He then went up into the Texas and sat down to lunch. Shortly after doing so Wm. H. Grove, a son of Mr. Milo Grove of this county, who was a passenger on the boat, went carelessly in to where Swaney was eating. Swaney asked him "did you come to rob?" Young Grove replied pleasantly, "No." Swaney immediately and without any further words arose, knocked young Grove down, then pulled out his revolver and shot him. He then rolled his body to the edge of the boat and shoved it into the river. It is also said that the murdered man still living, caught hold of the guard of the boat to save himself, but that Swaney loosed his hands, when he sank to rise no more alive. His body has not been recovered, and in all probability never will be. After this Swaney went back into the Texas, got some coffee and while attempted to wash away the blood from the floor. He then went to bed and fell asleep. A police officer was in the meantime summoned, who proceeded to the room, arrested him and took him before a magistrate where a preliminary examination was had, which resulted in his being sent to jail where he now is. The witnesses were recognized to appear at the April term of court. Three witnesses, it is said saw him do the bloody deed. Swaney has the reputation of a desperate man, while his victim is said to be a gentle, peacable and inoffensive person. Taking it all together, the absence of provocation, &c., this is one of the most cold-blooded murders that we have any recollection of.

DON'T BUY AN ORGAN

Until you have heard that wonderful musical triumph, the Burdett Organ. The performance of even a child upon that perfect instrument is more touching and musically entrancing than the flourishes of practical players upon most other organs. The effects of the vox humana (human voice) an I celestial stops—a late invention, and found in perfection only in the Burdett organ—are touching and sympathetic in the extreme, and comparable only to the heart-searching and tremulous tones drawn from their violins by an Ole Bull or a Vieux Temps. The Messrs. Kleber & Bro., 122 Wood street, Pittsburgh, Pa., have the sole agency, and will be glad no doubt, to show these organ gems to all who may desire it.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

During the past week our markets have generally ruled dull and quiet, but the tone of the market seems to be gradually improving, and merchants are looking forward and anticipating a good spring trade. During the week there has been little or no variation in prices.

APPLES—There is a fair demand for choice apples at $4 50@5,00 ₩ bbl. An extra article some times sells in small lots as high as $5 50 ₩ bbl.

BUTTER—The receipts are hardly adequate to the demand, and prices continue to rule high. We note sales of 100 lbs in tubs at 42c ₩ lb, and 40 tubs at 35c, 36c, 38c ₩ lb as to quality.

EGGS—Under more liberal receipts prices are drooping. We note sales of fresh at 36@37c ₩ doz. and lined at 35@35c ₩ doz.

POTATOES—We note sales of 50 sack P. B. potatoes at $1 10 ₩ bush, and 80 bbls to be shipped when the weather moderates at $3 00 ₩ bbl.

GRAIN—During the past week or two there has been very little doing in grain of any description, and prices have been without material change. We note sales of 1 car load oats in lots, from store, at 66c, and from store we note small sales at 67c, and from depot, at 65c ₩ bushel. Barley is in light receipt—with a good demand for prime at $1 55@1 90 ₩ bushel, and per-fect would bring $2 ₩ bushel.—Corn is in good receipt, and prices have declined 2@3 cents from wagon at $1 25 ₩ bushel. We hear of no reported sales of wheat, and continue to quote the mill prices for red winter $2 50@2 55 ₩ bush, and white wheat $2 60@2 65 ₩ bushel.

SEEDS—Timothy is in fair demand at $2 75 ₩ bu. Flax seed is pure hulled, in bulk, at $4 50 ₩ hundred.

FLOUR—During the past week there has been but moderate trade doing, excepting in the best brands for which there was a fair local demand.—We note sales of choice brands of spring wheat Flour at $11@11 50; medium brands of spring $9 50@10 50; medium brands of winter $11 25@11 50, and choice white wine Flour $12 00 ₩ barrel.

"KING FROST,"

The Fruit Destroyer effectually conquered, and Fruit now can be grown every year in any Northern Climate, without injury from Frost by premature Budding, Patented by Cyrus Fisher Apr5,'64.

ALSO

The Curculio, Wood Borer, Locust, and all other insects so destructive to Fruit Trees and Fruit, successfully prevented from committing their ravages on orchards, the tender Vine and Ornamental tree alike preserved in root, body, branch and bud from the attack of any kind of Vermin or Insect, by Fisher's "new and useful mode" on process of preventing the Borer, other Insects from injuring Fruit or other Trees," Shade and Ornamental Trees, Shrubs and Vines.

PATENTED SEPTEMBER 12th, 1865.

The process of retarding the bloom of Fruit Trees and thereby preventing "frost killing" by premature budding, has been successfully used in Ohio and other Western States and has proven a complete success. The following are a few of hundreds who have used the process and testify of its merit. E. Cubert, of Warren County, Ohio, says: "My orchard has not failed since I used it." Henry Smith, of Leesburgh, Carroll County, Ohio, says: "I have tried Fisher's process for retarding the Bloom of Fruit Trees, and from my experience know that it not only prevents "frost killing," but enhances the value of the fruit." Township and farm rights for sale. The Agent, (W. H. Dunn,) can be addressed at Beaver, Pa.

HAVING BEEN CREDIBLY INFORMED THAT different parties have been guilty of purchasing sacks that had once been filled by us, and on which we had placed our brands, and refilling them with an inferior article of flour, and then selling the same as flour manufactured by us thus being guilty of perpetrating a base fraud upon us and also on the public, we desire to expose the baseness of such parties and bring them to justice, and we therefore offer a reward of twenty-five dollars, to be paid to any person who will furnish us with sufficient evidence to convict any party of the fraud aforesaid.

ROCHESTER FOUNDRY,

ANDERSON, PATTERSON & CO.

MANUFACTURERS OF MACHINE CASTINGS, Railway Track and Car Castings, Agricultural Implements, Engine and all other Castings made at a first class Foundry. Also, Stoves, Grate Fronts, Grate Bars, Liners, Sash Weights, Hollow-Ware, Kettles, Iron Fence, and all other Castings called for, on short notice and of the very best metal.

Also, J. J. Anderson's justly celebrated New Cook Stove for Coal and Wood, which took the

First Premium

At the State Fair recently held at Pittsburgh. This Stove combines many new and important principles, which place it far in advance of all others now in use. Some of the merits claimed for it by the Inventor, are Heavy Metal, Well Proportioned, Beauty of Style and Finish, Ease of Draft, Easily Kept Clean, Requires but little Fuel, and the

BEST BAKER EXTANT.

All orders thankfully received and promptly filled.

We Call Attention to the Following Statements:

While living in the East I used several of the most Celebrated Cooking Stoves made in that part of the country, and on my arrival here, I was recommended to purchase the Crystal Palace Stove, (also invented by Mr. Anderson) as being the best. I did so, and used it with good satisfaction. When I saw Mr. Anderson's new Stove, I was attracted by its neat appearance, and on examining its Oven and interior arrangements, found it possessed many advantages over all I had seen. I purchased, and have one now in use. We consider it superior to any we have ever used. It is all the inventor claims, and we think, all that could be desired in a Cooking Stove.

CAPT. GILBERT PENDLETON.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 21st.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, I can fully endorse Capt. Pendleton's statement.

JOHN H. WHEELER.

J. WOODRUFF.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, we are fully satisfied with its good qualities in all respects.

JOSEPH IRVIN AND WIFE.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 25th.

Having kept house for a long time, and used a great number of Cook Stoves of different patterns and styles, I consider J. J. Anderson's new Stove, in point of economy in fuel, ready cooking and baking for its size, superior to any we have used, and cheerfully recommend it, believing it will render entire satisfaction.

CHAS. LUKENS.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 25th.

We have one of Mr. J. J. Anderson's new Stoves, manufactured at the Rochester Foundry, and having given it a fair trial, we find it comes fully up to all that has been claimed for it. It heats very rapidly, takes but little fuel, and is a most excellent baker. Mr. Anderson may congratulate himself on having achieved quite a triumph in the line of Cooking Stoves.

Very respectfully,
Beaver, Nov. 23d, 1867. J. S. BRAUGHER.

COOKING STOVES,
HEATING STOVES,
GRATE FRONTS and FENDERS, &c., &c.

Ruby Cooking Stove Nos. 7, 8 & 9.

THIS STOVE TOOK THE FIRST PREMIUM at the State Fair as a Coal Cooking Stove, and also at the late County Fair. We use no scrap iron in their manufacture, but make them exclusively of No. 1 Pig Metal, and warrant them in every respect.

The Ruby has the largest oven in the market and consumes but little fuel in baking, owing to to our improved Grate.

GRATE FRONTS AND FENDERS.

We are largely engaged in the manufacture of Grate Fronts and Fenders, which we enamel in an oven common, second quality and fine finish. This enamel retains its lustre for a long time, will not burn off, and makes a much superior finish to that of Coal Tar.

SUMMER PIECES.

We are also making Sheet Iron Summer Pieces (for which we have applied for a patent) pressed up in a Hydraulic press. They are much lighter than cast Iron, and much cheaper.

HEATING STOVES.

We claim the heaviest heating Stove in the market for the size, and use the best Stock in their construction.

Our patterns are not yet complete, but it is our intention to keep a general assortment in our line.

We also took the Premium at the County Fair for Castings generally, and we have entered in to the business with the determination to use the best of Pig Metal and make good work.

We respectfully request a share of the public patronage, and would be pleased to see those wanting anything in our line at our works.

No. could the requisite information be obtained from those issuing the same.
